Soviets Said Ahead | Wanted: 60 Teachers | Maccabi Team Back In Science Training

NEW YORK Monday (Reutar).

"The New York Times" reported yesterday that the Western world was in danger of lesing to the Soviet Union the important technological race for trained scientists, engineers and technicians.

portant technological race for trained scientists, engineers and technicians.

At the present time, the Soviet Union is producing two-and-ahaif times as many engineers each year as the U.S. The paper said that a study it had undertaken showed that while the democracies were looking the other way, the Soviet Union and affiliated countries were training scientists and engineers at an almost feverath rate.

The Soviet Union has set out on a definite state policy first to reach and then outstrip the free world in the preparation of scientists and engineers assembled in the preparation of scientists and engineers assembled for survival in the atomic age while the quality of Soviet technical schools and colleges is steadily rising.

The paper reported that the supply of trained personnel in the U.S. reached its peak in 1950 when 50,000 engineers graduated. This dropped each year until it reached the low point of 20,000 last June.

The reverse is happening in the Soviet Union. By this year, 54,000 engineers were turned out, and the same trend was seen on the scientific level.

At the same time, the Soviets have undertaken an extensive programme to train technicians in other countries and in China. The latter now had 20,000 situations while there were 601, 1000 such students in Eastern Fouropean countries of the Soviet bloc, the survey showed.

Heritish film, "Woman to Woman," the tale of an unhappily married London officer, who finds happiness in Paria. Despite a most disarming finale, there is nothing improbable about the plot. It often strives after a realism and naturalness which leads to under acting—and that is its pitfall. Douglas Montgomery was not bad as the hero. Joyce Howard, the dancer, the lady who brings happiness, would have been sacked from any cabaret. Yvonne Arnaud, as the latter's maid, exaggerated her part, but at least she was expressive. The actor who took the minor role of the critic gave a nest performance.

Boneh," and was created in 1940 as a small machine repair shop, turning to the production of land mines for the British Army in 1942, and later specializing in steel structures, valves and armatures. At present, it comprises five separate departments, producing steel constructions, steel frames for doors and windows, tanks and various equipment for the building trade; plumbing accessories, taps, etc.; locks and hinges; nails and wire; and cutlery. A big car repair shop is also to be erected jointly with the "Eshed" cooperative in the course of the next year.

Payroll to Rise

market difficulties so far and efforts were not made to develop exports until recently. A $100,000 Turkish order for door hinges has already been partly supplied. Trial cutlery shipments have also been made. The cutlery department forms a separate company, in which 50 per cent are held by a private investor, Harris Miller of Sheffield.

In the local market, a considerable part of the sales are to public institutions and Government Ministries and to the Solel Boneh organization (in the construction department Solel Boneh accounts for 60 per cent of the turnover). The company now enjoys virtual monopoly in the supply of door hinges and succeeded in obtaining about 20 per cent of the domestic nail market in the teeth of flerce opposition from the cartel of old established factories. In the other lines it also occuples a very prominent place.

Trade Prospects

With France

PROSPECTS for renewal of the trade agreement with France are considered favourable in dits scope may even be increased, although the ratio of 1 to 2:5 or 1 to 3 between Israel exports to and imports from France will be maintained. In 1992, French exports to this country totalled $14m. while France imported only $0.9m. worth from Israel, However, in the first half of 1864 our exports were $1.6m. and our imports $5m. (The bulk of our exports $1.5m.) consisted of citrus, and the ratio will certainly be less satisfactory in the second half of the year). Cher goods exported to France were diamonds, machinery, sweets, oils, perfumes, juice, clothing etc. In some cases, the orders obtained in France could not be utilized because import licences were not granted.

Should the French adopt a more liberal import policy, additional Israel goods could find a ready market is France. Considerable luterest seems to exist there for Israel groundouts there for Israel groundouts which France imports in large quantities and which could be supplied by Israel.

As Israel exports are concentrated in a comparatively aborts season while imports from France are spread over the whole year, the question of a "swing" credit is to be solved, but no special difficulties are anticipated in his respect.
